Colorful Graduation

OLD ROCHESTER GRADUATES 119

The class of 1969 was graduated from Old Rochester Regional High School in as beautiful a setting as could be desired for a group that had distinguished itself during the four years of high school achievement. The athletic field of the Regional School was green and lush as a result of a fine spring. The graduates were robed in red for the boys and white for the girls. This combination provided as beautiful a sight as the sun ever smiled upon and the sun did smile on one of the finest summer evenings as could be imagined. To the familiar strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" by the Old Rochester Regional High School Band, directed by Mr. Jarvis Medeiros, the graduates, led by their faculty, emerged from the school and marched down the field to take their seats facing the grandstand. The invocation was by Rev. Edward F. White of the First Congregational Church of Rochester.

Dr. Joseph C. Kunces, superintendent of schools, welcomed the guests and expressed his pride in the unusual honor and distinction that the Class of '69 had brought to Old Rochester. Dr. Kunces said that in the course of the school year various themes by the students came to his attention and that one of these so exemplified the feeling of the graduating student that he chose to read it as befitting the occasion so well. He then read a composition by Joan Ellen Darrah in which she expressed the mixed feelings of the graduate about to enter into the adult world. She expressed the idealism, the confidence and the resilient youthful spirit tempered with the insecurity of independence, the sobering task of a new beginning and the challenge of the threshold of adult life. Dr. Kunces read this theme with only a minor paraphrasing. Every student and every guest could find in its lines an echo of their own thoughts on the same occasion. Dr. Kunces also paid honor to Mr. Cuthbert Tunstall, a member of the faculty, who is retiring after 32 years in the teaching profession, 8 of which have been at Old Rochester.

Dennis Desnoyers, president of the class, introduced the speaker, Mr. Franklin W. Phillips, director of administration, NASA. Mr. Phillips said that 12 years ago knowledge continues to grow with each probe. Those of the students who continue their education will continue to benefit from the information incorporated into the college courses as man's knowledge is expanded both by study of other planets in our solar system and by the building of the equipment for the exploration. He explained that, after a successful manned landing on the moon, scientists have the vehicles built to conduct further more complex exploration of the moon which might be compared to the detailed study of the Antarctic made by Admiral Byrd. Sites have been selected for the gathering of moon surface samples in various differing types of terrain, he explained. On each of these expositions laser reflectors will be emplant on the surface in differing localities and elevations. These will allow a very precise measurement of distance which then can be carried out by scientific stations on earth. These expeditions will increase man's technology and know-how to determine whether further manned flights to the planets are feasible. Mars will be under scientific study in July by two probes already speeding toward that planet and due to fly by in July. One of these probes will circle the equator of Mars, he said, while the other will circumvent the ice caps. The space vehicles will make infra red heat studies of the surface as well as transmitting high resolution television pictures of the surface. Further probes will be sent to determine the changes which may be observed in the heat of the surface. Further probes will be sent to determine the changes which may be observed in the heat of the surface of the planet. Scientists hope to explain the "wave of Darkness" which has puzzled them for years. Other far ranging explorations into space will further increase man's understanding of our solar system and will vastly increase the opportunities in every field of mechanical and scientific endeavor. up continuing opportunity in manufacturing industry and scientific fields to benefit not only those who enter these fields but everyone on earth.

Mr. Frank P. Gifune, Jr., principal of the high school, spoke to the graduates and then introduced Mrs. William B. Macy, vice-chairman of the Old Rochester School District, who spoke briefly to the graduates and then presented each with their diploma.

Mr. Gifune then announced the prizes and scholarships. A $1,000.00 National Merit Scholarship, a great honor for the recipient and the school, went to George Fisher, Jr. Scholarships from the Citizens' Scholarship Foundation, Old Rochester Chapter, went to the following: Raymond Andrews, $200.; Marice Cayton, $500.; Adelio De Miranda, $200.; Alice Fernandes, $400.; Stephen Heath, $200.; Douglas Macomber, $200.; James Pagenkopf, $200.; Christine Perrault, $200.; Stephen Wainio, $200.; and Sharon Young, $500.

Other scholarship awarded were Benjamin D. Cushing Post, $200., Nancy Prescott; Boosters Club, $200., Timothy Sullivan; Harold D. Mahoney, highest average, George Fisher, Jr.; Marion Mothers' Club, $300., Timothy Sullivan; Old Rochester Teachers' Club, $300. and Sippican Woman's Club, $200., Sharon Young; X Fund, $400., Albert Bosworth; X Fund, $200., Marice Cayton; and X Fund, $200., Timothy Sullivan.

Medals were presented to the following: Linda Brownell, business; George Fisher, English, French, Music and Science; Carol Boyce, home economics, food; Paula Palmer, home economics, clothing; Christine Sharples, mechanical drawing; Joan Darrah, printing; Malcolm Coggeshall, mechanical accomplishment; Nancy LaFrance, Latin; Susan Livsey, mathematics; Christine Glaeser, physical education for girls; Marc Gill, physical education for boys; Christine Sharples, social studies; and Tracy Locke, Spanish. Honorable mention went to Christine Glaeser in music for her role in "Oliver!"

"The Star Spangled Banner" was sung by all and the benediction was by the Rev. Leonard Mullaney, St. Rita's Catholic Church, Marion. The graduates marched out to the Recessional by the band and then formed a half circle on the field and received congratulations from the faculty and guests.

MIDDLE SCHOOL REJECTED

FURTHER REGIONALIZATION DEFEATED 6 to 1

A strong turnout of Mattapoissett voters dealt a decisive defeat for the school committee - administration proposal to further regionalization of the town's school system. The vote was by secret ballot following a motion to that effect by Mattapoissett Selectman David N. Haley. The count was 51 in favor to 351 against the article that would have extended the regionalization through Grade 5.

Mr. Marshall Sawyer, school committee member, made the presentation for the administration-school committee proposal. He said that arguments against the plan were oversimplified and faulty in their reasoning. He said that the main objections were these: that the plan would be of principal benefit to the town of Marion and that people opposed further regionalization in principle. He said that he did not know what would happen if the town were not willing to accept the proposal. "The result," he said, "would not be good for the kids and would not be good for the taxpayer. It is not the best possible solution but it is the best solution possible." He said that Old Rochester Regional is now overcrowded, having been built for a capacity of 850. With better utilization of space, he explained that capacity had been upped to 940. He said that 981 students now occupy the building. He described the proposition as an attempt to draw off the surplus OR pupils by means of one school. Socially, it would be better to separate the younger students, he maintained. Educationally, it would be better and it would make good financial sense.

Linwood Lewis, school committee member, took the floor with the figures for the cost of the school which was estimated at $4,500,000.00. This cost would be spread among the three towns of the region. Of the total, Mattapoisett's estimated share would be $1,750,000.00 which amounted to 39% of the capital costs. He said that this would be reasonable because Mattapoisett would have 50% of the pupils occupying the facility.

Mr. Harold Vokes took the floor to state that Mattapoisett had many citizens of retirement status whose income was fixed. He said that he failed to see how these people could stand another great increase in their real estate taxes. He said that Mattapoisett had built Old Hammondtown with the express assurance that it had the capacity for expansion. The town he said had built this school at a cost of $750,000.00. Why, he asked, can't we now add on the rooms that we need to take care of the pupils of the town at a fraction of the cost of the Middle School proposition. He said that he appreciated the effort that went into the 200 hours of planning on this proposal but that it was a mistake to assume that the taxpayers were not thinking about the same problem over many hundreds of hours, also. "I've thought about it daily, he explained, not a day goes by that I don't think about my taxes."

Mrs. Charles Posiviata took the floor. She said that Mattapoisett people are looking for quality and not quantity in education. We made a mistake, initially, she maintained, by sending our 7th and 8th grades to Old Rochester. In a huge school she said the younger children lose their identity and become a number in a crowd. In this week's issue of U. S. News and World Report she said that the feature story was about the causes of the trouble on the campuses of the country. The main complaint of the college student was a loss of con-

She maintained the opposite was true: that the younger children, in the individual town's own elementary school, has the tremendous advantage of feeling secure and in contact with his teacher and his environment. She said that Mattapoisett made its mistake in sending young 7th and 8th graders to be lost in a huge regional school. "We should not repeat that mistake," she said, "by sending younger 5th and 6th grades into a large Middle School. Mattapoisett wants quality - not quantity in the education of its children", said Mrs. Posi-viata.

Mr. John Gibbons, Mattapoisett assessor, took the floor with a suggestion that "we abandon the State" which was received by the taxpayers with enthusiasm. This was, after Mr. Sawyer had replied to Mrs. Posi-viata that the State frowned upon building small schools. Mr. Gibbons said that he felt that the taxpayer should be aware that, if approval was granted to the middle school, that the tax rate would be an estimated $85. per thousand and that this would mean that the owner of a house valued at $20,000.00 would pay a tax of $135. per MONTH on that property. He said that he was very familiar with the State method of assessing a town (on which the percentage of capital cost is based). He said that Mattapoisett is growing much faster than the member towns of the region and that therefore their share would be larger than the percentage estimated. He said that this figure would be entirely dependent on the State assessment.

Mrs. Donald Jason asked the question, after grades 5 and 6 are removed from Old Hammondtown, does this mean that grade 4 would be left to occupy all of the school? Mr. Sawyer answered that grades 5 and 6 would be withdrawn gradually as it was necessary.

Mr. Sawyer stated that if the proposal were rejected then it might be necessary to have double sessions at Old Rochester. Mr. Paul Kelley leaped to his feet and demanded the floor to ask point blank - Didn't we, all three towns gather at the auditorium of the Old Hammondtown School last year where under the same threat, the assembly voted a sum of $300,000.00 to obtain portable classrooms.

These classrooms were supposed to house the 7th and 8th grades to separate them from the school proper and to prevent the double session. Mr. Sawyer admitted that this was the case and the $300,000.00 had been added to the school's operating budget. However, he said that in the meantime a prominent man from one of the towns had threatened suit against the school committee if the funds in the operating budget (earmarked for the portables) were used to purchase buildings.

Mr. Harold Vokes, who had previously moved to indefinitely postpone the Regional question, withdrew this motion when he sensed that the Town Meeting members wanted to make a definite vote on the original proposition. Voting then proceeded

ROCHESTER REJECTS MIDDLE SCHOOL

Rochester, which voted on the same issue in a Special Town Meeting held the same night, rejected regionalization of the 5th and 6th grades by a vote of over 200 to 50. The vote was by show of hands and so decisive that town moderator, Bernard F. Otter-son declared the article defeated without taking a count.

Marion will vote on the issue this Wednesday, June 18th, at 7:30 P.M. at Tabor's Hoyt Hall.

CLARIFICATION

Mr. Marshall Sawyer, Old Rochester Regional School committeeman, has very kindly brought to our attention a distinction which deserves clarification. The letter of May 29th from the Superintendent of Schools to the Mattapoisett Board of Selectmen suggested not that a majority hand vote should be taken on the 2 school questions but, stated rather, that it could be taken. In response to a question asked of him, Dr. Kunces had obtained a ruling from Mr. Warren E. Carley, counsel for the Region. The ruling was that "balloting is not necessary under these circumstances, but that a Town Meeting may do so if it desires."

Flag Honored

FAIRHAVEN IN IMPRESSIVE SALUTE TO
 "OLD GLORY" ON FLAG DAY

Major Reardon of the United States Marine Corps addresses those assembled in Cushman Park, Fairhaven, on Flag Day to do honor to the flag and Fairhaven's heroes. (photo above)

Mr. Ken LaVallee, chairman of the event, presented a flag to Major Reardon. The flag will be sent to Viet Nam to be flown over the command post of Col. Danawitz of the Ninth Marine Regiment of the Third Marine Division. The Colonel is now flying a gift U. S. flag from the people of Fairhaven over his Viet Nam combat headquarters and this flag will replace it. Flags were also presented to the Selectmen, Fire Chief and Police Chief to be flown over their various headquarters.

HEROES HONORED

Beautiful floral wreaths are shown being placed on the platform by Marine honor guards at the Flag Day ceremony. The wreaths honor the Marine Corps, Everett H. Corson, Jr., Peter Roy, Henry Chevalier and the armed forces in general.

The assembly performed a "trooping of the colors" as a finale. This very simple, very colorful observance was a memorable tribute by a town now famous for its flag display by individual homeowners.

Mattapoissett Yacht Club

SECOND RACE IN JUNE SERIES

Mattapoissett Yacht Club held the second race in its June series June 14th with competition in two classes.

Jimmy Barnes, at the helm of Lulu, won for the Corinthians. John Ross, in Happy Too, took the honors in the Beetle Cat class.

Winds were gusty at 15 to 20 knots, at times higher. Fog, the traditional scourge of sailors, plagued the skippers throughout most of the afternoon. Hazy skies along the shore soon gave way to fog, which thickened as the courses turned out into Buzzards Bay. Visibility lowered to fifty yards at times, causing t yards at times, causing three boats to withdraw from the race.

The six-boat Corinthian fleet sailed a course from the MYC race committee boat anchored at mid-harbor opposite Ned's Point to Angelica Point red nun 2 to Nye's Ledge black bell 9A and finish at the race committee boat.

George Fisher in Cloud Nine was ahead at the start. Nearing the first marker, however, J. Clark's Instead and N. Shackoy's Blue Chips were out front battling for the lead. Shortly thereafter the winds slowed down to 10 to 15 knots and the fog closed about the fleet. The next marker, at Nye's Ledge, proved very difficult to locate in the lowered visibility, and three boats turned back.

Jimmy Barnes in Lulu was the first to emerge from the fog and placed first. C. Burr's Good Grief came in second. The last boat to complete the course was N. Shackoy's Blue Chips.

The Beetle Cats sailed a shorter, but none the less foggy, course from the committee boat to Angelica Point red nun 2 to Gallatin Rock black can 3 and finish at the committee boat.

Brian Roderick in Pussy Cat led at the start of the race, only to be overtaken mid-way of the first leg by Swamp Fox, skippered by Tim Reilly. Then followed a luffing match which gave Swamp Fox the lead to the first marker, followed by Roderick's Pussy Cat and Ross' Happy Too. Then the fleet disappeared in the dense fog. When the boats reappeared, John Ross' Happy Too had taken first place at the finish line. Brian
